STRESS

- ❖ What is stress? Stress is what we feel in situations we find difficult, challenging or even frightening. When we feel we can't cope with the situation.
- What is good stress? Stress that makes you ready for action as it gives you adrenalin and energy. E.g. When you have to stand in front of the class and speak. It is for a short term and you can have sweaty palms and a dry mouthy or butterflies in your tummy.
- What is bad stress? If the stress is more than you can cope with, it is unhealthy. You may become ill, unhappy and depressed. You are not able to do your task as well as you could. You will have headaches or will not be able to sleep.
- What is a stressor? A stressor is anything, event or person that causes stress. It is the things that trigger stress
- Symptoms of stress:
 - ✓ Short term effects: Faster breathing/faster heart rate/dry mouth
 - ✓ Sweaty palms/tension in your neck/butterflies in your tummy
 - ✓ Long term effects: High blood pressure/headaches/ulcers/allergies etc.

Types of stressors:

- ✓ Physical: caused by physical harm, such as violence and sexual abuse.
- ✓ Environmental: caused by factors like extreme weather or pollution.
- ✓ Personality bases: people who are more prone to stress than others.
- ✓ Social: caused by the people around you e.g. peer pressure.
- ✓ Emotional: caused by your emotions e.g. relationship problems.
 - Why is it important to manage stress? Your body produce cortisol and adrenalin. These are 2 stress hormones. Cortisol is the hormone produced by fear, results in anxiety. Adrenalin- is the hormone that prepares the body to react physically to a threat. If you fail to manage your stress your body can produce too much of the hormones for too long. The stress will damage your body and change to chronic diseases like high blood pressure.

Types of

- Physical
- Emotional
- Environmental
- Social

Signs and symptoms

- Dry mouth
- Sweaty palms
- Butterflies in stomach
- Upset stomach

Positive and negative stress

- Postive: Makes your ready to react to situation
- Negative: Can not do the task or cope with stress

Assess levels of stress

Symptoms of stress:

The signs of stress are physical symptoms. Feeling worried is a symptom of stress. Sweating or trembling hands are a sign of stress and worry. Other signs or symptoms includes diarrhea or an upset stomach, rapid heart beat, bleeding ulcers and sweating too much. Symptoms of stress can include headaches, stomach ache, feeling tense, unable to sleep, constant thirst and feelings of unease. These are all short term effects of stress.

Long term effects of stress are: high blood ressure/headaches/ulcers/allergies etc.

Factors that lead to stress in the workplace:

- Poor management/poor planning by Supervisors or managers.
- Lack of skills from other workers.
- Poor work relations between management and workers
- Poor relations between workers
- Poor work environment
- Incompetent workers
- Jealousy
- Autocracy by management
- Tasks are demanding
- Poor attitude of seniors (no support)
- Poor resources to do proper job
- Poor work ethics by workers
- Understaffed
- Poor benefits
- Low salary

How to manage stress (NB!!!! For long questions in exam) Behaviours, techniques, strategies and examples of ways in which stress can be managed:

- Meditation is a one of the natural methods of relieving stress. Simple deep breathing exercises can assist tremendously in relieving stress. Meditation helps to calm the mind.
- Exercise and eat healthy foods regularly. Eat healthy foods and exercise at least 3 times a week.
- Avoid excess caffeine intake which can increase feelings of anxiety and agitation.
- Don't use illegal drugs, alcohol and tobacco.
- Learn relaxation exercises (abdominal breathing and muscle relaxation techniques).
- □ Develop assertiveness training skills. For example, state feelings in polite, firm, and not overly aggressive or passive ways ("I feel angry

- when you yell at me" "Please stop yelling"). Rehearse and practice situations which cause stress. One example is taking a speech class, if talking in front of a class makes you anxious.
- Learn practical and effective coping skills. For example, break a large task into smaller, more attainable tasks.
- Decrease negative self talk. Challenge negative thoughts about yourself with alternative neutral or positive thoughts. "My life will never get better" can be transformed into "I may feel hopeless now, but my life will probably get better if I work at it and get some help."
- Learn to feel good about doing a competent job rather than demanding perfection from yourself and others.
- Take a break from stressful situations. Activities like listening to music, talking to a friend, drawing, writing, or spending time with a pet can reduce stress.
- Build a network of friends who help you cope in a positive way...
- A stress journal can help you identify the regular stressors in your life and the way you deal with them. Each time you feel stressed; keep track of it in your journal. As you keep a daily log, you will begin to see patterns and common themes. Write down:
- Analyse your stress:
 - 1. What caused your stress (make a guess if you're unsure)?
 - 2. How you felt, both physically and emotionally.
 - 3. How you acted in response.
 - 4. What you did to make yourself feel better.
- Not all stress can be avoided, and it's not healthy to avoid a situation that needs to be addressed. You may be surprised, however, by the number of stressors in your life that you can eliminate.
- Learn how to say "no" Know your limits and stick to them. Whether in your personal or professional life, refuse to accept added responsibilities when you're close to reaching them. Taking on more than you can handle is a sure recipe for stress and can lead to burn out.
- Avoid people who stress you out If someone consistently causes stress in your life and you can't turn the relationship around, limit the amount of time you spend with that person or end the relationship entirely.
- Plan: Take control of your environment If the evening news makes you anxious, turn the TV off. If traffic's got you tense, take a longer but less-travelled route. If going to the market is an unpleasant chore, do your grocery shopping online.
 - Pare down your to-do list Analyze your schedule, responsibilities, and daily tasks. If you've got too much on your plate, distinguish between the "shoulds" and the "musts." Drop tasks that aren't truly necessary to the bottom of the list or eliminate them entirely

PERSONAL MISSION STATEMENT

What is a Personal mission statement?

It is a description about you and of our values, dreams, attitudes and goals. You set goals for yourself. The purpose is to get you to explore and identify your own values, dreams and goals. They get you to identify your skills, your values and your dreams. It tells what is important to you and how you plan to achieve it.

What are values? It is the things that you choose and that are important to you in your life. It is not the things your parents or friends decide to be important. You must choose them out of your own free will. It is the things you are proud of and are happy to tell the world about.

Your values have been influenced by everything that you have had contact with in your life: your parents, your friends, your life experiences, your access to media and your conscience. For you to become a mature adult, you need to develop your own value system. It is the code by which you live your life.

Why is it important to have a mission statement?

It gives control and structure or purpose to your life. It guides you into the future. It help you to achieve your aims and goals

Your personal mission statement is to formulate or draw up your own mission statement, consider the following aspects:

Personal views

Your personal views are your opinions and what you consider to be important. For example, you may view Mathematics as an important subject because you want to study to be an accountant after school. Your personal views many be influenced by your goals for your future, your religion, culture, and values.

Values

Values are personal beliefs that guide the way you live your life. They are your standards of acceptable and unacceptable behaviour. They are aspects that are important or valuable to you and have meaning for you. Some of the things that shape your values are your life experiences, the environment in which you live, your school, your interests and the important people in your life.

Belief system

Your belief system is the way you try to understand the world and your place in it. It is also your set of beliefs about what is right and wrong, true and false. Your belief system may be based on the teachings of a formal religion or may be part of your cultural belief system.

Your religion is what you believe and who or what you worship. Religions usually have moral codes, rituals and ways of behaving towards others. Religion is based on faith and a belief in Ideologies are an organised set of beliefs, values and ideas. They are the way you believe you should live in the world and the way society should operate. Political ideologies include democracy, communism, nationalism, and fascism.

Lifestyle (physical and emotional well-being)

Your lifestyle is how you live your life on a daily basis. For example, you may exercise regularly, eat healthy food, practise safe sex, and not drink alcohol so that you care for you physical well-being and health.

Environmental responsibility

If you take your responsibility towards the environment seriously, you know you need to treat nature with respect. You do not do anything that is harmful to the nvironment, such as litter or chop down trees, without planting new trees. You recycle and get involved in environmental clean-up campaigns.

Goals for studies and career choices

Your goals for studies and career choices are your plans for the future, the steps you need to take to achieve your later goals in life. For example, your goal may be to have a good job and to own your own house in ten years' time..

To have a vision about your future gives you a direction about who you want to be or what you want to achieve in 5 to10 years' time, even in 30 years' time. You vision is your dream. It is a mental picture of what the future will or could be like. It is what will make your life exciting and fulfilling. Make your vision ambitious. It doesn't necessarily have to be practical. It may even seem a bit crazy now. Dream big! A mission statement is more practical; it focuses on your actions, behaviour, and plans to achieve your dream.

Study plan for Grade 12

Process of assessment and examination writing skills:

What is assessment?

It is the continuous planned process of gathering information on achievement.

Why assess?

It identifies how you cope with new knowledge, content and skills.

Different types of assessment?

- * Formative assessment: happens when you are working on something and helps you and your teacher work out how you are coping.
- * Summative assessment: this happens at the end of a term, chapter or project. It measures how you manage over a period of time.
- * Self-assessment: you assess yourself.

Studying methods and planning

The SQ3 method:

- It stands for Survey, Read, Recall and Review.
- It is a very effective way of studying as it helps to embed the learning material in your memory.
- You begin to survey your learning material in a broader context. You get an overall idea of what the work is about.
- Look at headings and sub-headings.
- The next step is to -read
- You read the chapter
- As your read you recall what you have read by asking and answering questions to yourself
- Review: put what you have read in a mind map
- If you battle start from the beginning or where you got lost.

Strategize your study time:

- Plan your study time.
- Where, when and what and how are you going to study?

- Planning is important so that you have enough time to study all the work efficient and effective.
- Prioritizing your daily activities. For example is watching your favourite program going to add value to your life and help you pass examinations.
- Is having sufficient sleep important to concentrate in class.

Prepare yourself for an exam

Start studying long before the time.

Make s	sure you	sleep	enough
--------	----------	-------	--------	--

- Practise past papers. It will help you to understand what they expect of you.
- Eat a breakfast before a exam
- Get to the venue on time
- □ Remember all your equipment like pens, calculators etc.

Multiple choice questions:

- This questions test factual knowledge.
- Often one of the answers is very clearly wrong and you can eliminate it straightaway.

 Work out the answer that is most correct.

Essay questions:

The key to writing a good essay is to understand the instructions properly. What does the examiner want?

Preparing for exams:

Preparing for exam	know how many questions you need to answer know what style of questions you will need to answer e.g. essay work through a mock exam to help in your preparation
Night before exam	Get enough sleep – you cannot write if you are tired Prepare all the equipment you might need like calculators etc. Check the time and place you will need to write exams again
Day of exam	 eat a good breakfast or meal-you cannot concentrate on an empty stomach visualise yourself being successful arrive in time and go to the bathroom avoid discussing the work with friends because this will confuse you ore make you nervous
Exam room	 think success while you breathe deeply make sure you are handed the right paper especially in language e.g. HL /FAL read and highlight the key words in the instructions complete your details to the front of the exam book read the questions and highlight the key words work out how much time you have for each question

Presenting a question paper:

The following are some points to keep in mind to present the paper well:

- 1. Hand Writing Keep the hand writing legible. If the examiner cannot read your writing you will lose marks. Do not do too much scratching around on the paper. This really makes the paper look dirty.
- 2. Margins Draw margins on both side of the paper. This is generally very important that your answers are in the centre of the answer paper and visible properly. The best time to do it is the time when you get the answer sheets and before you get the question paper, so this does not waste any time of attempting the paper.
- 3. Figures Generally you can draw figures with pen. But preferably draw them with pencil. Generally a free hand diagram would do in an engineering paper but when done with a pencil is much easier to correct and change than a one drawn with pen. And it looks much neater.
- 4. Rough Work Do not do rough work of any kind just next to the sum. Do the rough work in the margin. Or you could just mark the last page as rough work and do all the rough work there.
- 5. Sub Question All the sub question of a question should be attempted in a sequential order. If you do not know a sub question leave appropriate place for it .Do not attempt the sub question anywhere else. This would be highly irritating for the examiner. He might not even check that answer.

All these small things do not take up a lot of time during the paper but if not done they make the paper untidy. Due to this the examiner might not be able to read exactly what you have written and it might affect your marks drastically. So do keep these tips in mind.

UNEMPLOYMENT

What is unemployment?

NB for exam!

When you are willing to work, ready for work and desperately wanting a job, but cannot get work because there are just not enough jobs around for everyone.

It is when you have no work or career.

- When jobs close down, people get retrenched.
- Companies try to save cost by hiring fewer people, so people are redundant.
- Factories close down because people don't buy certain products any more.
- Poor market related skills- people do not have skills they need for market to find job or there are jobs but not the people with the right skills to do them
- Corruption, which leads to 'jobs for friends' at overly high salaries and takes away jobs from the poor or better qualified
 - Difficult for first-time or new entrants to enter labour market; people with experience are preferred
- Too many people have the same qualifications and too few posts.
- Buyers look for cheap imports and local people lose jobs as factories close down.
- When there are many unemployed people, fewer goods are produced and fewer services are provided.
- Investors become scared to invest their money because they may lose it, as not enough people will buy their goods or use their services
- In difficult economic conditions in the world or recession there will be less money available to spend on luxuries such as holidays, travel, hotel accommodation and eating out in restaurants. There will be less money to shop for luxury goods such as gifts. So hotels, restaurants and gift shops may go out of business. This leads to further unemployment, because the people, who work there, will then also be without work.
- Graduates' beliefs in how much they are worth in the job market may lead them to ignore lower- paying jobs, which may be the only jobs available
- High costs of employment, so firms hire fewer people who do more work
- Jobseekers become discouraged and give up trying
- Lack of job search skills and information
- Mechanisation and computers reduce the number of people needed for jobs
 - Higher demand than supply; meaning there are more job applicants than jobs available

Specific reasons for youth unemployment

There are specific reasons for youth unemployment. The reasons include:

 Businesses prefer employees who already have skills and experience to inexperienced and unskilled youth.

- Employers do not regard schooling as an accurate measure of abilities.
 Low pass marks for NSC are not acceptable in a competitive workplace.
- Expectations of youth may not match reality. Some youth would rather not work than do a job thought to be below their hopes.
- Lack of businesses that are willing to do on-the-job training
- Lack of entrepreneurial skills
- Lack of knowledge on how to apply for job or study, study loans and learnerships
- Lack of networking skills; not knowing whom to contact
- The youth do not have enough information about the role of FET colleges and their courses that lead to jobs.
- Poverty, which leads to lack of funds for further qualifications, and lack of money to pay for transport to job interviews, CV printing, airtime and online application access.
- Some young people make high wage demands at entry level, which workplaces are not willing to agree to.
- Some youth give up, and stop looking for jobs.
- There are too many recent university graduates with qualifications that do not match market needs.
- There are too few universities to accommodate all the applicants.

The effect or impact of unemployment:

A job provides satisfaction, support and hope and fulfilment. Unemployment affects the unemployed not only financially, but also personally and socially.

- You will lose self esteem, self-respect and motivation.
- We have a loss of our sense of purpose in life

Less taxable income for government and less money to spend on education, hospitals, police and road.

Hunger and Homelessness

Lack of education and training

Crime

Exploitation

Human trafficking

HIV and Aids

Child abuse

Exclusion and loneliness

Possible Section C

Innovative solutions to counteract unemployment

- □ Register on the Department of Labour database as an unemployed work seekers The Department of Labour's work seeker database is a register of all unemployed people seeking work opportunities. To register your details on this database, you will need to visit your local Labour Centre and complete a work seeker application. The Department of Labour will provide you with a reference number and inform you of learner ships and other opportunities that arise. You can get contact details of Labour Centres in your areas from ; http://www.labour.gov.za/contacts
- Start working part time during school holidays and weekends and gain experience
- Volunteering: Volunteering means you help others. You give of your time and skills to others. You do not expect payment. Volunteering makes you feel good about yourself because you are doing something for somebody else. This builds confidence. It also allows you to explore your interests, abilities and skills. This might make it easier for you to choose a career. Volunteering is not only about helping people. You can also, for example, volunteer to clean up rivers or beaches, or work in an animal shelter. When you volunteer, you usually get a letter or a certificate to state what kind of work you did and for how many hours. You can add this to your CV because now you have work experience, and have shown that you are willing to help make South Africa a better place.
- Part-time jobs; If you work for a short while or for part of a day or week, you have a part-time job. You can gain a lot of experience through part-time jobs, because you can have more than one job at a time. For example, you may get a job to help with directing spectators to their seats at soccer matches. This job is only on certain days, so it is part time. You will build up good experience, and become skilled in different aspects of work. In addition, you will earn an income, while you build your CV, part-time job

- Community work: Community work means you do something to benefit your community or a community in need. It is also a form of volunteering, but you concentrate on the needs of your community. The work is usually paid for by government or an NGO, or a religious-based organisation. For example, you may help to feed orphans or help to make a community peace garden.
- Entrepreneurship; To be an entrepreneur you have to see a need and provide a service or goods that people need. This is a great way to earn money while you look for other work opportunities. If your entrepreneurship leads to success, you may turn this into your day-to-day job and also employ others.
- Informal jobs are usually short term. For example, you may wash cars, do gardening, sell newspapers, make clothes, or sell fruit or sweets at the taxi rank or next to the school. Some people prefer informal employment due to its flexible hours. This allows them to balance family responsibilities. Others find this is the only work they can do to survive.
- Sign up as a temporary employees (or temps). Some managers assume you're happy as a temp, and you need to let them know that you would be happier as a full-time employee.
- Contact a job agency (a Google search will reveal several in your area), and set up a profile with them. Don't e-mail them call them.
- Get a employment, no matter where it is, even if it's just a part time job. Whether you want to be a cashier at the local supermarket or a helper at Home Depot, you'll need to start getting some kind of income while looking for your next full time job! Don't think that you are too smart to any job. You must start somewhere.

Financial and social viability of entrepreneurship and other employment options

Entrepreneurship and other employment options may be the best way to earn money. The more jobs that are created the better for everyone. Draw up and business plan and see if you have a workable solution.

SARS tax obligations (South African Revenue Services)

When you earn a salary, part of your income is taxed. This means that when you look at job application adverts, the amount you see is not the full amount you will earn, as tax will be deducted. When you receive any income tax is deducted. You must register at SARS.

Income tax is the government's main source of income. Income tax is a tax levied on all income and profits received by a taxpayer. This includes individuals, companies and trusts. It is every citizen's duty to pay tax. Without income tax, there will be no services, such as roads, hospitals and schools, and the government could not function.

Even if you are an entrepreneur or an informal worker, you have a duty to pay income tax if you earn more than R63 556 a year. If you earn less than this or are unemployed, you are said to be below the tax threshold. Our government is making it easier for small business and entrepreneurs; you don't have to pay the same amount of tax as big corporations. But do your citizen's duty and pay tax! If you don't pay tax, you contribute to unemployment because the government can't create employment opportunities as there is not enough money to do so.

Initiating, building and sustaining relationships

Positive communication leads to positive relationships. Our ability to communicate with others will determine the success of our relationships with them Communication is about understanding others and communicating our feelings, beliefs and attitudes to them.

How do I initiate, (begin) keep friends and build the relationships?

Initiate relationships: You will be in a new place next year. You might not know anybody. So it will be up to you to start new friendships. A good way to break the ice when you meet new people is to make sure you hear their names. Ask them about their names or what they mean. Then ask them a little about themselves because people do like to talk about themselves.

- You can also start a conversation by talking about neutral subjects if the person is shy. Try to remember the name of the person, so the next time you see them, they feel special because you remembered them.
- Be willing to share a little about yourself, but don't talk about yourself all the time. Avoid boasting or showing off. People don't like braggers.
- Keep up to date with the latest news and topics that people are discussing. If people find you are informed and interesting, they will enjoy talking to you.

Characteristics and skills of positive relationships: Good relationships help us throughout tough times in our lives. Forming and maintaining good relationships doesn't come easy. You have to look for some qualities and skills and characteristics in the person with whom you are forming a relationship. What are they?

Skills needed by good communicator	 Ability to communicate Ability to listen Sympathetic Not expecting all to have the same view as you
Characteristics and qualities	 Ability to give and take Unselfish Mutual respect Tolerant Caring/Supporting Respect for others and the work they do Can work in a team Understanding how others think Ability to be yourself

Build and sustain positive relationships with good communication and listening skills.

In relationships good communication helps to build good relationships. There are some good and not so good ways of communication with people.

Effective communication	Ineffective ways to communicate
Listen attentively and show empathy	Not listening to the other person
Listen without judging	Interrupt the other person
Understand before your respond	Being judge mental and jumping to conclusions
Speaking clearly without being emotional	Being emotional and overreacting
Understanding the feeling of the other	Sarcastic responses or defensive person	behaviour
Show with your body that you are	Fold your arms and turn away and look listening e.g. nod your head to show you	around when the person is talking listen or agree

Build and sustain positive relationships: communicate your feelings, beliefs and attitudes.

There are different factors that can affect how well we communicate. Your feelings, what you believe and your attitude are all part of who you are. If you communicate your feelings and show your humanity, then people can understand you better.

Your beliefs are part of who you are, and it is important to express them. It is important that you are free to communicate these aspects. However, never hold and express beliefs and attitudes that go against our constitutional values. Express your feelings, beliefs and attitudes, but avoid imposing or forcing them on others. Every person is entitled to have his or her own views.

Factors that influence effective communication:

Personality: The way you act, behave, and react and your attitudes all form part of your personality. Remember that we all act in a certain way in a certain situation.

Sometimes a shy person is seen as boring and uninteresting until you get to know him or her. Other people are extraverts and they might intimidate you with their way of communication. Other people hide behind their "weaknesses" by seeking attention all the time and they need to be the centre of attention. Your own personality will determine whether you are attracted of put off by the other persons way of communicating.

Attitudes and values: If you have an attitude (you think and act) that you are better than others, if will affect communication. If you think that only your ideas, beliefs and values are right and you do not show respect, you will not be a good listener and you will not allow others to freely express their views. This will block communication between you and other people and can lead to conflict.

- Acceptance of responsibilities: Responsibility means you are accountable, do your duty and take responsibility for your actions. You can be trusted to do a job, because you take responsibility. If you make a mistake, you don't try to shift responsibility to somebody or something else. Effective communication can only t happen where there is trust, reliability and responsibility. Friendship comes with responsibilities.
- Appropriate expression of views and feelings: Appropriate expression of views and feelings mean that you say what you think and feel, but in a way that does not hurt or offend others.
- Respect the feelings of others: When you show respect for the feeling of others, they will show respect for you and your feelings.

Responsible citizenship

Responsible citizenship means that you do your duty as a citizen, you fulfil your responsibilities, and do what is right or expected of you as a citizen. You:

- are aware of, respect, and promote human rights
- are concerned about the welfare of others
- take part in campaigns, projects and events that fight against the violation of the human rights
- obey the law

Evaluate your position on discrimination and human rights violations

If you evaluate your position on discrimination and human rights violations, you analyse your own viewpoints, behaviour, opinions and attitudes towards these issues. You consider your position by taking the Bill of Rights into account.

Bill of Rights

'This Bill of Rights is a cornerstone of democracy in South Africa. It is the rights of all people in our country .The Bill of Rights are basic human rights that all people, not only South African citizens, should enjoy and respect. Examples of some of the rights are:

PAPERS

- to be treated equally;
- to have dignity and self-respect;
- to have your own opinion and views and to follow any religion you chose;
- to express your ideas,
- views and opinions freely, as long as they don't violate the rights of others;
- to live and work in a healthy environment;
- to be treated fairly at work;
- to speak any language you chose
- to have access to basic health care.

Discrimination

If you discriminate against others, you treat them unjustly, unfairly, and unequally because they are, or you think they are, different from you

Human rights violations

Human rights violations mean hurting, disrespecting or acting against someone's rights. If you call someone names you are being disrespectful to that person. You are violating her rights to dignity.

The role of the media in a democratic society: electronic and print media:

Electronic media are any media that need electricity or batteries, such as the Internet and emails, websites, blogs, Facebook, Twitter, radio, TV, film and DVDs.

Print media include books, newspapers, magazines, pamphlets, brochures, posters and billboards

Role of the media in a democracy:

The role of the media is to inform society about daily events that are newsworthy.

In a democracy, the media's communicated, and educate.

The media play an important role in informing citizens about their government, their rights and freedom and their health and safety.

expose violations of human rights

report on unlawful activities, the courts and court cases expose corruption and mismanagement communicate, inform and educate and entertain shape the public's opinion

 \triangleright give political information that can inform voters

identify problems in our country and communities

promote debate and discussion promote nation-building, by giving access to diverse viewpoints and world views, as well as sports cover

The role and responsibility of the media in a democratic society includes being fair

PAPERS

Examples of when the media do not fulfil their roles responsibly include:

- Most media make money from advertisements and sponsors. The media therefore aim to satisfy the interests of their advertisers. These may not be the same as the interests of the public. They may withhold information or give biased reports, to satisfy their sponsors.
- News entertains rather than informs. Some media are filled with gossip, scandals, sex and violence rather than facts.
- Political news is often more about personalities, than about politicians' work and contributions. Media publicise the scandalous private lives of politicians and their families, which have nothing to do with their work.
- The lives of famous stars are made difficult by the paparazzi who invade their privacy. The media are like vultures when celebrities are in trouble; they persecute rather than protect them.
- The media sometimes exaggerate dangers and make people afraid for no reason.
- News and interpretations of events may be biased, incomplete or incorrect.
- The information in the printed press, radio and TV has been selected from a large pool of information. Somebody, somewhere, made a decision on what was necessary to tell the public and what not. What is not told may be just as important as what is told.

NB!!! Freedom of expression and limitations:

Freedom of expression means that you can express your ideas and opinions freely through speech, writing, and other forms of communication. Freedom of expression is a basic right in a democratic society, and it applies to everyone, including individuals and the media. People may not express viewpoints that violate the rights of others.

Constitutional limitations to freedom of expression .

The right in the constitution does not include:

- propaganda for war
- incitement of imminent violence
- advocacy of hatred that is based on race, ethnicity, gender or religion
- Incitement to cause harm.

This means you have freedom of speech, but cannot use hate speech. You cannot use racist language, or discriminate against anyone. You cannot encourage people to take part in violent acts, or to hurt or hate others. The media may not publicise and distribute anything that is of a criminal nature, or that can damage or harm people.

In most societies men have more power than women. The gender power roles are traditional in that they are followed by generation after generation.

Men have power for a number of reasons, e.g.

- they are physically stronger than women.
- they have different biological roles
- they have financial power if they earn all the money.

Sexual harassment is the main way in which abuse of power takes place in the workplace. In most cases men are abusing their power over women.

Facts:

- Most victims know the rapist.
- Most rape victims thought it could never happen to them.
- Victims of rape are afraid of getting hurt or killed. They are often paralysed with shock and cannot move or speak.

What are environmental factors?

It is factors that cause ill health, accidents, crises and disasters. It includes environmental hazards like pollution and waste dumps, radiations, floods, fires and damage cause by draughts.

How does it affect people?

Poverty leads to people having fewer choices about where they live, as they may be forced to live in polluted environments.

It is the responsibility of local or provincial governments to provide better infrastructure for these people. E.g. better roads in informal settlements so that emergency services can reach people whose houses are burning down.

Environmental issues

These are issues where things in the environment affect the people who live in its health.

TERM 3

- Factors causing ill health, accidents, crises and disasters;
- Managing human and environmental factors that impact on health.
- Textbooks: Bateleur P 63/ Oxford P 28/Making Choices P31/Focus P96-100/

Key Concepts	Explanation
Human factors	Factors contributed by human beings e.g. social, religious and cultural practices
Environmental factors	Factors in the environment, the natural world that contribute to ill health, accidents, disasters and crises such as floods, extreme temperatures'
Lifestyle diseases	Diseases that are a result of the way you live and affect the way you live.
Natural disasters	A sudden accident or natural catastrophe that causes great damage or loss of life such as fires, floods, tsunamis and earth quakes
Hazard	Danger, risks or a threat that is usually caused by man, such as pollution, toxic waste, deforestation etc.

What is the difference between a natural disaster and an environmental hazard?

A Natural disaster is a sudden event caused by nature whilst a natural hazard is caused by men.

Environmental factors such as floods, earthquakes, fires can also be responsible for accidents and disasters and the spread of disease.

Some environmental factors, such as floods and cyclones, are unavoidable as they are caused by the forces of nature. Others like fires and pollution, could be avoided or controlled.

E.g. Dangers for people who live or work near waste dumps:

- Pollution from the site can poison the air, rivers and soil
- People can get ill from inhaling the poisoned air, drinking poisoned water and eating food which has been poisoned by the soil.
- Waste dumps attract disease carrying animals, such as rats and mice.
- Dangerous waste may poison the environment and harm people.

If factories and mines do not get rid of waste in an appropriate way it can cause people to get sick.

Dealing with disasters:

- Disasters can lead to trauma. Trauma means a serious bodily injury or shock.
- PSTD (Post traumatic stress disorder) is long term suffering from bad experiences.
- People who have experienced family violence, crime, rape or who are survivors of natural and human disasters may suffer from emotional distress., withdrawal or over independence.
- Emotional reactions include: grief, anger, aggression, careless behaviour, depression
- After disaster, it may be difficult to concentrate or remember things and make decisions. People may feel disorientated, confused and unsure of where you are or what to do.
- Sometimes people feel overwhelmed by the emotions and disasters.

How to cope with trauma:

- Try to discuss your feelings with someone
- Explain to those around you that you are suffering and need their support
- Keep a journal and write about your feelings
- Use your belief system
- Do not put too much pressure on yourself
- Do relaxation exercise
- Make sure you are eating well
- Set short term easy achieve goals

What is Lifestyle diseases?

It is diseases caused by the way you live your life. Lifestyle diseases are the result of an unhealthy lifestyle. Factors contributing are the types and amount of food we eat, lack of exercise and smoking. Genetic factors also often play a role.
Lifestyle diseases includes diseases like Alzheimer's disease, cancer, chronic liver disease, Diabetes, heart disease, stroke, obesity, osteoporosis etc. Unsafe sexual behaviour like not using condom correctly, increases the risk of HIV and Aids and STI's

What cause lifestyle diseases?

Factors in diet, lifestyle and the environment are thought to influence susceptibility to diseases listed above. Smoking, alcohol and rug abuse as well as the lack of exercise may increase the risk of certain diseases in later life.

What are power relations?

Having power means having control over something or someone. If someone have power over any other person in a relationship it is a power relationship.

Different power relationships:

- Political power relations: Richer countries with lots of resources dictate to poorer countries how to run their affairs. Poorer country does what the richer country wants, to prevent them from withdrawing financial aid
- Power relations related to gender and race and religion: In most societies men have more power than women. The gender power roles are also often supported by religious teaching in which the man should be the head of the home.
- Cultural aspects of unequal power: In Muslim and Zulu cultures a man may have more than one wife, but a woman is allowed only one husband.

Men have power for a number of reasons:

Men are physically stronger than women

- Men and women have different biological gender roles which have influenced their roles in society.
- In the past women stayed at home and raise the children
- Men had financial power and could decide how the money was used.
- Women are tied down by family responsibility such as child rearing and domestic roles.

If you decide to report it to the police.

- Do not throw away any clothes or wash yourself. There may be hair, blood or semen on your body or clothes that will be important evidence.
- Save clothing in a paper packet or newspaper rather than a plastic packet that can destroy evidence.
- Get examined by a doctor or district surgeon as soon as possible
- Make sure everything you report to the police is recorded accurately.

Labour issues: Work ethics/redress

Workers rights and obligations:

Workers and Employers rights are protected in the Labour Relations Act (LRA). Workers rights in South Africa are outline in the Bill of Rights or Section 27 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa.

Workers rights in South Africa □The right to choose your own trade, profession or occupation. □The right to fair labour practise □ The right to join a union □The right to be part of the program and activities arranged by the Union. □ The right to strike	Employers rights in South Africa The right to join an employer's organisation The right to be part of the program and activities arrange by the employers organisation.

He cannot change the conditions of employment without consulting the employee. Not to engage in unfair labour practice To arrange his business practices according to the labour law of the country. To apply Affirmative action To apply the Equity act in the work place

Conditions of service:

Companies and jobs are not the same and they will have different conditions of service. Conditions of service includes things like the number of hours you will be expected to work (normally 40 hours per week) as well as the amount of leave you will be able to take every year. All of the conditions of service should be covered in your employment contract.

Depending on your job and responsibility within a company your conditions of service will also indicate items like disciplinary procedures for e.g. constant late coming for work, absent without valid reason or any other form of non compliance with company policy.

All the conditions of service are covered in the Basic Conditions of Employment Act and each company should set their conditions of service in line with this law.

This act or law will protect you and your employer from taking advantage of each other or of practising unfairness in the workplace.

In order to protect you, your conditions of service should also indicate the policies and procedures in case of grievances in your company.

Labour laws:

As a result of South Africa's apartheid past, job reservation and the segregation and exploitation of workers, South African labour is ruled by four major acts or laws. They are the Labour Relations Act, the Basic Conditions of Employment Act, the Employment Equity act and the Skills development Act. These laws were designed to protect the rights of workers and employers and all of them will affect you directly when you start working or looking for a job. (These laws do not apply to members of the South African Secret Service, the National Intelligence Agency or the National Defence force members). All these laws can be found on the website of the Department of Labour. (www.labour.gov.za)

All laws have an introduction. This refers to the reason for making and implementing the law and to whom it applies or who is excluded from it. The next part will refer to the "rules" made by the law. It will end by saying how to solve problems.

Labour Relations Act (LRA) (as amended in 2002)

The Labour Relations Act covers all the inter action between employers and employees.

The act applies to all employers, workers, trade unions and employers' organisations.

Labour relations are controlled by the government and the regulations it lays down working conditions for employers. The act makes sure that the Constitutional Rights or all employers and employees are adhering to.

What does the law say about Affirmative Action?

- Affirmative action measures are measures intended to ensure that suitably qualified employees from designated groups have equal employment opportunity and are equitably represented in all occupational categories and levels of the workforce.
- Measures for affirmative Action includes: identifying and elimination of barriers that affect designated groups, measures to promote diversity, training of designated group and preferential treatment to ensure equal representation in the work place.

Principals of equity and redress

The history of South Africa's labour practices has been known by inequality and exploitation. Previously there has been a division between black and white and male and female. White South African men were largely advantaged by selective employment (keeping jobs for white men only) and promotion strategies in the years of apartheid. There is an effort to redress the disadvantages of the past and to promote previously disadvantage people like women and disable people.

What is the difference between employment equity and affirmative action?

Affirmative action deals with equal employment opportunities and equal representation in all occupation groups and levels in the workplace.

Employment equity has to do with the numbers of workers from different groups in the workplace. Equity is achieved through affirmative action.

Recruitment process: general trends and practices. What are recruitment and the recruitment process?

Recruitment refers to the process of getting the right person to apply for the job in a company. The aim of recruitment is to get a number of qualified or skilled people to apply for a particular job or vacancy. See the diagram below for detail about the process. The recruitment process should be fair, confidential, promote diversity and achieve equity in the workplace.

Work ethics and societal expectations

Work ethics deals with a worker's attitude towards his or her job and employer. You can compare it with your attitude towards your school and your responsibility towards your schoolwork. It involves attitudes, behaviour, respect, honesty, accountability, communication and interaction with other people. It can be compared with the effort you take to study, how you respect your teachers and fellow students and make your school a better place. Good work ethics will refer to your positive attitude and commitment to your work or in your case your school. Work ethics demonstrate the decisions you make about what is right and acceptable against what is wrong and unacceptable. Work ethics come from within a person and give others a picture of your values, culture and upbringing.

People with good work ethics are likely to keep their jobs and make a success at work. They will also benefit from their good ethics by coming in line for promotion.

The skills of having good work ethics are referred to as soft skills e.g. the willingness to learn and to be taught by a senior or supervisor, the ability to get along with other workers well, the behaviour and attitude of the worker towards the company, being on time and being at work without taking leave or sick leave unnecessary or without proper reason.

Good work ethic is the most important skill in keeping a good job. Good work will start the moment you apply for a job. You will show this by putting in a neat, complete and well organised application without any mistakes.

When you start a new job, the first thing your supervisor will notice is the time you arrive and leave your work. It will also show in the way you dress for work, volunteer for new tasks, cooperate with other workers and contribute with new ideas to the company you work for. You will have an attitude of what can I offer the company instead of what can the company offer me.

Societal expectation refers to what the society and people in your community expect of other people sharing the community with them. It is about how people expect other people to behave and how to treat each other. It can almost be compared with our basic human rights in our constitution. Rights like the right to be treated with respect, to be safe, to be treated with dignity and not judged unfairly. It also refers to our environment and the way we expect others to treat the environment we share and protect for the future.

When you enter the world of work people in the workplace will have certain expectations of you and the way you behave. Each society and community will have its own expectations based on the culture, values and religion of the society. When you apply for a job, you should make sure your personal values and beliefs fit in with the expectations of the society.
